Emanuela von Frankenberg

VITA

Born in Basel in Switzerland, Emanuela von Frankenberg trained at the Max-Reinhardt-Seminar in Vienna and was engaged at the prestigious Burgtheater while still a student. During the intendantships of Achim Benning and Claus Peymann, she acted under the direction of Dieter Giesing, Hans Lietzau, Rudolf Noelte, Otto Schenk, Achim Benning and Benno Besson in numerous plays, including main roles in »The Wild Duck«, »Spring Awakening«, »Othello«, »In the Jungle of Cities«, »The Cherry Orchard«, »A Month in the Country«, »The Seagull«, »The New Mendoza«, »Pains of Youth«, »Peer Gynt« and many others.

Thereafter she guested at almost all prominent German-language theatres: Cologne Schauspielhaus, Deutsches Schauspielhaus Hamburg (in »The Duchess of Malfi« directed by Peter Zadek), Schauspielhaus Stuttgart under Ivan Nagel, Residenztheater Munich, Kammerspiele Hamburg, Schauspielhaus Zurich and Freie Volksbühne Berlin.

Emanuela von Frankenberg has worked with directors such as Hans Neuenfels, Peter Zadek, Jürgen Flimm, Christoph Nel, Peter Palitzsch and many more. Under the direction of Arie Zinger, she played Sasha in »Platonov« at the Schauspielhaus Stuttgart, she performed in »Hedda Gabler« at the Schauspielhaus Zurich and she played Hilde Wangel in »The Master Builder« at the Maxim Gorki Theater Berlin.

She performed in Horvath's »Figaro Gets a Divorce« directed by Luc Bondy at the Wiener Festwochen. At the same time she played Amy in the German-language premiere of David Hare's »Amy's View« at the Volkstheater Vienna.

At the Stuttgart Opernhaus Emanuela von Frankenberg embodied Constanze in Mozart's »Die Entführung aus dem Serail« in an award-winning production by Hans Neuenfels, which toured as far as Hong Kong.

In 2008 she played Viola in Shakespeare's »Twelfth Night« and Laura in August Strindberg's »The Father« (Zurich).

In Hamburg she played the role of Eva in the German-language premiere of Ingmar Bergmann's »Autumn Sonata«.

Under the direction of Wilfried Minks, Emanuela von Frankenberg played, amongst others with Ben Becker, the role of Blanche in »A streetcar named desire«. With this play she gave guest performances from 2007 to 2010 at St. Pauli Theater in Hamburg, at Renaissance Theater in Berlin, in Austria and at Ruhrfestspiele in Recklinghausen.

In 2010 Emanuela von Frankenberg played Maria Lwowna in »Summerfolk« (60th anniversary of the Bad Hersfeld Festspiele / direction and stage design: Jean-Claude Berutti, Rudi Sabounghi). She also filmed »Silberkiesel« and »Weihnachten unter Palmen«.
